The hosting by the Solomon Islands of the 10th PCC assembly was simply amazing, given their current situation. During all 5 meals per day, there was never a time when food on the table ran short. During the evening meal, the hosting groups put up floor shows to add to the spirit of comradeship between both the hosts and assembly delegates from overseas. Well done Solomons, may the good Lord richly bless this country and its wonderful people.

3. 40TH ANNIVERSARY, MATAVERA GIRLS' BRIGADE

The 40th Anniversary of the Matavera Girls Brigade Company was celebrated on Wednesday 13th March 2013. This event was a last minute thought, planned by our Pioneer Group, we all were eager to celebrate this milestone mainly because we are the first company on Rarotonga to be formed, we are the smallest company in which we are aiming to grow in number in the future and to commemorate all the founders' hard efforts in forming this organisation here in Matavera.

We started our celebrations by meeting at Cassey Eggleton's section in Tuarai, Matavera, where we started our march to the Matavera CICC Sunday School Hall. With the help of our brothers the Matavera Boys' Brigade, they played our traditional marching beat to guide us to our destination. During the march, all the girls enjoyed themselves with the knowledge that this event is celebrating 40 years of hard work by former members of the organisation. Our banner said it all; MATAVERA GB 40TH ANNIVERSARY 2013.

Guided by the police on the road, this made the marching girls feel even more special. Although the march was not meant to be a fund-raising effort, some people decided to donate to the occasion. When we reached the Sunday School Hall, our families, friends and guests were waiting for us. Speeches were presented by one of the Founders of the Girls Brigade, Papa Motu Kora, who explained the starting of the Matavera Girls Brigade, along with those who were with him, including the late Papa MaruTaramai, MataTipoki and our very own National Commissioner Mrs Moekopu Vogel. Speeches by proud parents were presented also.

After the speeches, the lighting of our birthday cake took place which was done by former GB National Trainer Mrs Marianna Mataio, Papa Kora and Mama TuTutakiao blew the candles and Our Papa & Mama Orometua Rasmussen had the honour of cutting the cake. Forty years is a very long time and we the members of the Matavera Girls are very happy in commemorating this special day. Furthermore we thank all members who have contributed to this organisation over the years in helping to prepare the girls in their spiritual life and how to be independent within our homes and the community. In each organisation there are always obstacles, but through this movement, we try to overcome these mountains by holding onto our motto which says, "Seek, Serve and Follow Christ."

16. TE BIBILIA TAPU COOK ISLANDS MAORI BIBLE ELECTRONIC/DIGITIZED VERSION

abakkuk 2:2 Then the LORD answered me and said, "Record the vision And inscribe it on tablets, That the one who reads it may run." "E kua tuatua maira lehova iaku, na ko maira, Ka tata ana i te orama, e kia kitea uaia ki runga i te au papa, kia oro ua te tangata kia tatau ra."

Kia orana in the name of our Risen Lord. The Cook Islands Maori Bible (CIMB) enters into another phase of its historical life. From 1828 to the latest revision in 1895, we the people of the Cook Islands have enjoyed the written Word of God in our Maori language as a Hard Copy version. Over the past year, the Cook Islands Christian Church (CICC) leaders saw the opportunity in this century, to make our CIMB available electronically and thus began the project – “Electronic Version of the C.I.s. Maori Bible.”

The journey began....

The leaders of CICC, its Executive Council and the coordination of the Director of the Bi-Centennial Unit (BCU) – Mr. Tangata Vainerere, began consultations of how this project would eventuate. This raised much to think about and consider all possibilities to achieve the results hoped for. In September 2012, Mr. Daud Soesilo, Global Translation Advisor, United Bible Societies visited Rarotonga and entered into conversations with our CICC leaders, expressing their interest in this project. This led to the UBS giving their major support to the project by providing the applications required for making an Electronic Version of our Bible. Further agreement was made for the UBS to assist in all ways possible to completing the project. For the UBS, the program for production of the final Electronic Version of the CIMB is Paratext.

Rarotonga-based proof-readers, Maru Pureau, Ina Toru, Nooake Caffery, Tangi Vaiimene, Rairi Rairi, at Takamoa with Rev. Robert Robati-Mani (middle). Rairi is the local coordinator of the proof-

The reality of it all....

Under the leadership of Mr. Tangata Vainerere, Director of the CICC's Bicentennial Celebrations Unit (BCU), volunteers were gathered from Rarotonga to manually type the text from our CIMB hard copy to Word Document. A team doing the same from Australia and New Zealand has been lead by Pastor Mata Tumu-Makara and myself. A total of 22 volunteers in Rarotonga and 45 in NZ & Australia. 48 Books were allocated to the team in Rarotonga and the remaining 18 books shared in NZ & Australia.

My personal journey...

Ministers of the Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa New Zealand (PCANZ), in the duration of seven years service, are required to take Sabbatical leave. This is the second time I have had the opportunity to take such leave. As the electronic world grows, so has my interest in this electronic world. As part of worship, I have used the electronic tools to help in public worship such as prayers, hymns, parish notices and certainly our C.I.s. Maori Bible scriptures made available on data screens. There I saw the potential of such a project worth considering. I saw an opportunity during Sabbatical Leave to help bring this project to reality and therefore was the topic for my study leave. Some of goals set out in hope to achieve in study leave were:

- As a New Zealander of Cook Islands heritage, the Rarotonga language is my second language. I hope that this project will offer an opportunity to help and improve the use of my second language within the present context of ministry.
- Contribute to the continual importance of maintaining the language of my people.
- As a theologian, it will open doors to critically study and observe the original text and its transmission in the 21st century.
- Contribute to the continual upholding of a language within a multicultural society wherever my people are.
- Contribute to the many possibilities such as;
 - Reading the bible via internet, mobile phones, tablets and much more.
 - Continue to contribute to the works of Biggs and Savage – our present C.I.s Dictionary – Maori/English.
 - The ability to have a concordance available to our people.

Proof-readers at work at the CICC Head Office in Takamoa; Nooake Caffery, Tuamotu Matamakmi, Pare Maui.

The project phases:

Phase One – Typing of the text to Word Document. Volunteers from Australia, New Zealand and Cook Islands.

Phase Two – Proof Reading of the typed text in Word Document.

Phase Three – Data input from Phase Two

Phase Four – Coding to Paratext

Phase Five – Final Proof Reading

Phase Six – Confirmation of the completion of the project by BCU.

A few discoveries.....

1. The original English Bible used by translators for our current Bible is the King James Bible.
2. Since 1828, our Cook Islands Maori Bible has changed in its hard copy format probably three to four times.
3. Besides the Rarotonga language used, the influence of the Mangaia dialect within our Bible are evident.
4. Words not used in our daily vocabulary such as – perepereta, ieie, akanukanuka and much more.
5. There is evidence that the first translators from the London Missionary Society (LMS) had great understanding of the Hebrew and Greek Bibles. This is shown in words that have been borrowed and transliterated in our Bible.

In conclusion, it has been my privilege to be part of this project as it progresses to its completion over the next few years.

Proof-readers Maru Pureau and Ina Toru. BCU Director, Tangata Vainerere with Rev. Mani.

I would like to say 'Thank You'....

- My deepest gratitude to the President of the CICC, Rev. Tuaine Ngametua and the General Secretary, Mr. Nga Mataio, for your support in every way possible. This goes to the CICC Executive members and all at the Takamoa Headquarters.
- To Mr. Tangata Vainerere, Director of BCU for his contribution of leading in the early stages of the project.
- To all volunteers who have contributed to the typing of the manuscripts. I cannot mention them all at this point but will acknowledge at the conclusion of this project.
- Thank you to the 12 proof readers in Rarotonga who continue to undertake this task under the guidance of Mr. Rairi Rairi.
- Thank you to Mr. Iaveta Short who shared his treasured possession of a hard copy of 1851 and 1895 of our CIMB. Both these Bibles gave clues as to the journey our bible has moved from the original text, editing and revision over the years.
- To the consultants of United Bible Society in New Zealand, Australia and Jakarta – I say thank you for their guidance.
- To my wife Marina and our children; Adem, Katrina and Te Ariki for your support. Thank you too, to my family in Arorangi – Rangi & Teariki Purua and family and Alfred Dean.

News Highlights from Yester-years

"KO TE KARERE" (Karere) is a regular publication of the Cook Islands Christian Church. Its format has changed a few times over the years. Up to the 1970s, the Karere was published monthly and comprised of 3 parts: (1) scripture readings and uapou questions for each Sunday of the month, (2) a section set aside specifically for Sunday School, and (3) news, notices and announcements for the benefit of the CICC's branches on Rarotonga and in the outer islands. There were no branches in New Zealand and Australia back in those days. Printing was done at Takamoa by the LMS Press.

The Karere is still published today but on an annual basis and is confined to the Sunday scripture readings and uapou questions. News, notices and announcements are published in the bimonthly CICC newsletter. Both publications, in addition to others, are distributed to the CICC's 23 branches in the Cook Islands, New Zealand (22) and Australia (17) in both printed form as well as electronically. They are also available on the CICC's website (www.cicc.net.ck).

This section of the newsletter is devoted to bringing back memories of by-gone years. By reprinting in their original form some of the news articles from the church's past, one can virtually travel back in time and try to experience how things might have been then. The CICC Head Office in Takamoa wishes to acknowledge Ngata Urirau, Elder of the Avarua/Matavera Ekalesias for making available copies of the 1950s Karere from his possession for use in this CICC newsletter. These were retyped for this newsletter by Tina Akama, member of the Arorangi CICC. Also, starting with this issue of the newsletter, Mama Rangi Pitomaki, widow of the late Rev. Taraariki Pitomaki, gave me copies of the 1931 Karere which she found amongst the possessions of her late husband. These were retyped for this newsletter by Nga Mataio. To both Papa Ngata and Mama Rangi, thank you very much for making available these documents for the benefit of our readers of today.

Anybody else who has old CICC records that may be of interest to the public and would like them reproduced in this newsletter, please contact the General Secretary at Takamoa on gensec@cicc.net.ck or cicccgs@oyster.net.ck or phone 26547.

Kua marama meitaki te raveanga i te angaanga i te pae o te akonoanga nuku, e nga imene, kua meitaki katoa. Ko te aronga akatangi kita e tetai au mea atu, kua riro ratou ei arataki i te nuku ki te ngai angaanga ei tauturu katoa i te imene.

Matavera. Ko te rua teia o te Apii Sabati. Ko ta ratou tuatua ra, ko te tuatua ia ia Samasona e tana au angaanga keke. Te au Akava xiii-xvi. Kua rave a Samasona i tana angaanga ma te ririnui maata e te au angaanga katoa a te nuku, e mea marama e te meitaki.

Titikaveka. Ko te toru teia o te nuku. Ka tau paa kia karangaia ratou e, e vaka tangata. Kua tae ratou na runga i te moana paruparu ki te ngai angaanga, e kua oe i te vaka ma te imene katoa, "Oe tama, oe tama, oe ki uta." Tei te angaanga a te au Aposetolo te tuatua tei akonoia e to Titikaveka no taua ra koia oki, te tuatua i to Paulo takinga-kinoanga i te au Kerisitiano. Angaanga v-ix. Kua tupu te tangi i roto i te ngakau.

Nikao. Kia oti te kaingakai i te avatea, kua akamata akaouia te angaanga. No te Nikao te taime i te ora tai. E tamaiti anau ou teia i roto i te au Apii Sabati, kua vave ra tonu tupuanga ki te maata. No roto mai i te buka Makapi te tuatua a to Nikao, koia oki te tuatua i to Syria (Arama) takinga-kino anga i te Ngati luda, e te angaanga maroiroi a Matatia ma i te patoianga i te enemi, e i te piri anga kia lehova. E mea taka meitaki te tuatua; e kia tae ki te atianga i tupu ei te tamaki, kua keu rava te ngakau i roto i te tangata.

Ngatangiia. Ko te rima teia o te Apii Sabati tei rave i te angaanga i taua ra. Te rua o to Paulo aerenga ki o te etene, ko te tuatua ia tei akonoia e to Ngatangiia. Angaanga xv:35 – xvi:40. Kua taka meitaki to Paulo ma aerenga na roto i te au oire, e te au mea ke ke i tupu i Philipi, e tae atu ki te imene i roto i te are tapekaanga. E angaanga marama i te au peu e tau no te nuku.

Arorangi. Na Arorangi i akaoti te angaanga i taua ra. Kare te tangata i roiroi, kua mataora rava i te kite anga i teia nuku i te taki aere anga mai ki te ngai angaanga. Kua oki akaou te tuatua ki te buka a te au Akava. Ko te tuatua ia Abimeleka. Te au Akava ix. Te vai ra te maata anga o te angaanga a teia nuku nei. Kua marama meitaki te tangata i to te au rakau ikianga i te ariki no ratou; e mea mataora oki te imene tei raveia ma te au akairo ke ke e te tau meitaki katoa. Ko te tu ia o te angaanga ta te au Apii Sabati i rave i Takamoia i taua ra mataora ra.

Ka akakiteia tetai manga tuatua tei tau no te au Apii Sabati katoa e ono.

1. Te mataoraanga o te tamariki

E mea umere rai teia e te mataora oki i te akaraanga o te tangata; kua tae te tamariki mamaata e te au tamariki meariki katoa. Kua piri katoa mai tetai au mapu tane e te au mapu vaine e tauturu i te angaanga. Kia pera uatu rai.

2. Kare rava e tavarevare

Kia oti te angaanga a tetai Apii Sabati, kua teateamamao takere tetai, e kare rava te urupu tangata maata tei matakitaki i kite i i te maromaroa i te tiakianga i te tamariki.

3. Te taki aere anga

Walking Through Bible Places

This is the fourth of a series featuring pictures and notes from a book by Dr. Daud Soesilo with the above title. The book is a joint publication by the Indonesian Bible Society and the Bible Society of Singapore. Dr. Daud visited Takamoa in September 2012 as adviser on the BSSP-facilitated translation of the Bible, and presented a copy of the book to the church. The CICC is grateful for his approval to reproduce some of the contents of his book for the purpose of this newsletter. Dr. Soesilo is pictured on p.9 of newsletter 45. Re-typing and scanning of the photos were done at Takamoa by the CICC General Secretary.

TABGHA

The Church of the Multiplicationof the Loaves and the Fishes

Tabgha is located 3km from Capernaum. It is situated on a fertile hill, and there used to be seven springs which flowed into Lake Galilee. The previous name of this place was Heptapegon, a Greek word which means “seven springs.” Tabgha is an Arabic name, probably a simplified form of Heptapegon. It is the traditional site of the miracle of the multiplication of the five loaves and the two fishes to feed 5,000 (Mark 6.30-44; John 6.1-14). The site of the miracle was a grass field with many palm trees, close to the seven springs. The stone where Jesus is believed to have placed the loaves has been used as the altar table in the Church of the Multiplication of the Loaves and the Fishes. The current church was built above the ruins of a church from the 4th-5th century AD. You can see a mosaic of the loaves and the fishes on the floor in front of the altar table.

Tabgha is also the site where Jesus appeared to the seven disciples after his resurrection, and the location where Jesus said to Peter: “Feed my sheep” (John 21.15-19), which was understood to be Peter’s task for the church. The Church of the Primacy of St. Peter was built on this site. Inside the church, there is a stone called the Table of Christ (Mensa Christi in Latin), which was traditionally believed to be where Jesus and his disciples had breakfast together after the resurrection.

BANYAS

At the southwestern base of Mount Hermon, just north of Lake Galilee, lie the ruins of Banyas. The water from the Banyas springs is one of the three main sources of water for the Jordan River. This place used to be called Panias, after the Greek god, Pan, the guardian of shepherds and nature. When the Arabs conquered this area, they changed the name to Banyas, the Arabic pronunciation of the name. In 20 BC, King Herod conquered Banyas, then in 2 BC Herod Philippi made it the capital of his kingdom, calling it Caesarea Philippi (Matthew 16.3) to respect the Roman Emperor, Caesar Augustus, as well as using his own name.

Mark's Gospel records a conversation between Jesus and his disciples here: Jesus and his disciples went to the villages near the town of Caesarea Philippi. As they were walking along, he asked them, "What do people say about me?" The disciples answered, "Some say you are John the Baptist or maybe Elijah. Others say you are one of the prophets." Then Jesus asked them, "But who do you say I am?" "You are the Messiah!" Peter replied. Jesus warned the disciples not to tell anyone about him. (Mark 8.27-30).

EIN KAREM

Ein Karem is a small town situated 7 km southwest of Jerusalem. Ein Karem is Hebrew for “spring of the vineyard.” As the name suggests, there are many vineyards and olive trees there. Based on tradition, and supported by archeological findings, Ein Karem is believed to be the home of Zechariah, Elizabeth and John the Baptist, although the Bible does not explicitly tell the name of the town, calling it only “a town in the hill country of Judea” (Luke 1.39). Ein Karem is thought to be the place where Mary visited her cousin Elizabeth. The Angel Gabriel had earlier visited Mary and told her that Elizabeth was in her sixth month of pregnancy, although she was already old and was said to be baren.

The beginning of part of Mary’s song of praise, known as the Magnificat, is as follows:

*“With all my heart
I praise the Lord
And I am glad
Because of God my Saviour
God cares for me
His humble servant
From now on
All people will say
God has blessed me.”*
(Luke 1.46-48, CEV)

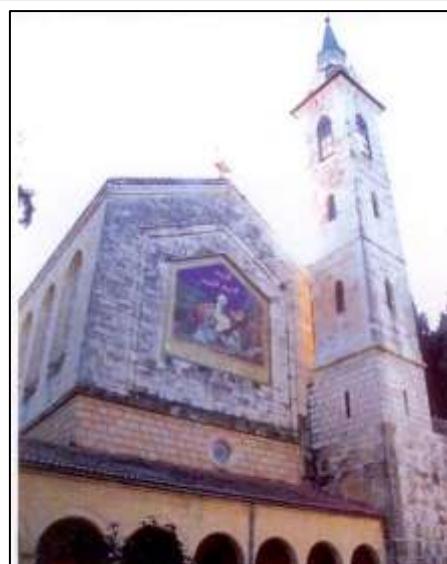

To commemorate these events, there are two churches in this area; the Church of John the Baptist (also known as St. John Ba Harim Church), and the Church of the Visitation.

Right: The Church of the Visitation.

BETHLEHEM

Bethlehem is a small town located 10 km south of Jerusalem. It is now part of the Palestinian territory. In Hebrew, Bethlehem means “house of bread,” while in Arabic it means “house of meat.” Bethlehem is also known as Ephrath. The Old Testament refers to Jacob’s wife, Rachel, who passed away after she gave birth to Benjamin, being buried by the side of the road to Bethlehem (Gensis 35.18-19). Bethlehem was the home of Naomi, Ruth’s mother-in-law. After Naomi’s husband passed away, Naomi decided to return to Bethlehem and Ruth, who was from Moab, decided to join Naomi going to Bethlehem. Ruth married Boaz, and they became the ancestor of king David (Ruth 1.22, 4.13, 17). David was born in Bethlehem and he was made King of Israel there also (1 Kings 16.1).

The Basilica of the Nativity.

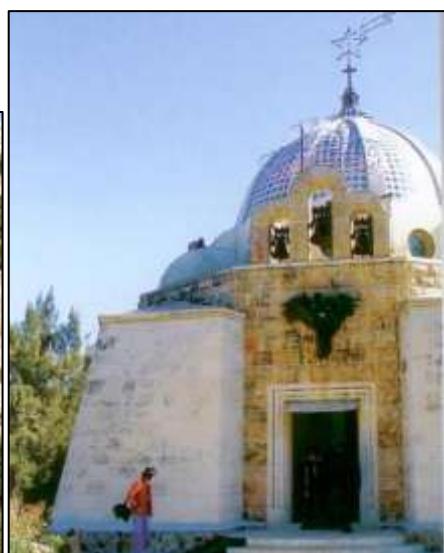

The Gospels write that Jesus came from Nazareth, but that he was born in Bethlehem (Matthew 2.1). At the time of Jesus' birth, Joseph and Mary had to register themselves for the census, to list themselves in the record books, which required everyone to return to their own hometown (Luke 2.1-4). A cave in Bethlehem was believed to be the site of the birth of Jesus. Above the cave stands an octagonal church, named the Basilica of the Nativity, which was dedicated in 339 AD. One of the mosaics on the wall of the church depicts the wise men clothed in Persian attire, the clothes from their homelands (Matthew 2.1). These mosaics saved the church from destruction when Bethlehem was attacked by the Persians in the 7th century AD, as the attackers recognised the clothes.

Several Christian denominations have managed this church, and it is a place of worship for Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic and Armenian Christians. In 1881, the Church of St. Catherine of Alexandria was built next to the Basilica of the Nativity. Thousands of people came to Bethlehem annually to celebrate Christmas. To the east of Bethlehem, there are shepherds' fields just like in the time of Jesus. Here now stands the Church of the Shepherds' Field.

PART 4

The Early Days

ISLAND HISTORY: A RAROTONGA PICTURE

Rarotonga was discovered by John Williams in 1823. The islanders were living under heavy oppression of superstitious fears; all the men were warriors, and a system of revengeful retaliation carried on from father to son, helped to fasten a ferocious character upon them. A succession of able and devoted men went to Rarotonga and spent themselves in the task of translating, printing, teaching and preaching the message of Peace. In the year 1880, HMS Turquoise visited Rarotonga, and the Captain inquired of Queen Makea whether there had been any fighting in recent years between the three different tribes in the island. The Queen looked surprised, and asked for an explanation. The inquiry was repeated, "Have you had any fighting, say within the last ten years?" The interpreter then received the following request: "Tell the Captain that when our fathers embraced Christianity fifty seven years ago, we gave up fighting altogether." Readers of Captain Cook's Journals will remember that, writing of the fierce conflicts between the islanders, he describes them with restraint as "public contentions." The kind of public contention now to be found in Rarotonga takes the friendly and wholesome form of football. In the Cook Islands, to which Rarotonga belongs, there are 2,800 Church members and 23 ordained native Pastors connected with the LMS.

THE BEACH OF ATIU: THE STORY OF A CHANGED PEOPLE

About 1820

It was a beautiful morning on a lovely coral island. The sun shone down on the graceful coconut palms with their crowns of waving fronds. In the orange groves the golden fruit hung thickly from the branches. The yellow and red hibiscus, the bright-hued oleander, and the sweet-scented frangipani flowers of white and gold lent colour and fragrance to the scene. On the reef the long rolling waves broke gently, the little wavelets leaping up in white spray as they raced among the big rocks that girt the hill-topped island of Atiu.

All nature smiled, but in man's heart was darkness and cruelty. Fierce shouts rang through the air, and the sound of heavy blows mingled with groans of pain. The wailing of the women, the cries of the frightened children, could be heard amid the martial chanting of the warriors' song. It was a great day on Atiu Island. Rongomatane, the great chief of Atiu, was leading out his warriors to fight against the inhabitants of the smaller islands, Mauke and Mitiaro. The sacrifices ordered by the priests had been offered to the hideous fetishes; human victims had been slain and laid upon their altars to procure their favour; with weird dances and strange cries the priests had called for the aid of Oro, the god of war; of Rongo, the god who presided over the sea; of Tane, the giver of food, and protector of the land. The chief and his warriors had painted their bodies and put on their hideous fighting masks.

Seizing their spears and clubs, at a word from the chief the warriors rushed down to the beach where the great war canoes lay waiting. Some seized the wretched slaves, captured in an earlier foray, bound their hands and feet and threw them down on the beach under the bows of the great canoes, while other warriors pushed the heavy craft over the human rollers down into the sea. With fierce yells the warriors sprang into the great canoes, and seizing the paddles, thrust their craft through the breakers out into the open sea. "Kia mate! Kia mate!" (Kill! Kill!) shouted the warriors, as they sped away on their errand of death.

Three Years Later

Another dawn was breaking on Atiu. The chiefs and the "rangatira" or freemen were assembled in council in the enclosure of Rongomatane, high chief of Atiu. Two fishermen who had been out in their canoes the night before had seen at sunset, far away on the horizon, the sails of a huge and strange canoe, far greater than they had ever seen before. All was stir and commotion. What could this strange vessel be? Who were these new enemies, gods or men? Could men build such great canoes? In a moment all was excitement. "Prepare my canoe," said Rongomatane; and he entered his hut, soon to emerge with his chiefs head-dress of gay feathers, among which appeared the sacred red tail-feathers of the tropic bird, which common people were forbidden to use. Soon the canoe was launched, and Rongomatane seated on a high platform, was paddled off by a strong crew of picked men to meet the approaching vessel, whose huge size drew cries of astonishment from the Atiu people who thronged the beach.

The ship was Te Matamua. Rongomatane went on board to find John Williams and his band of teachers from Raiatea and Tahiti. Rongomatane was amazed to find on board his brother chieftain, Tamatoa, high chief of Aitutaki. He was still more amazed to find that Tamatoa and his people had abandoned the gods of their ancestors, Tangaroa, Rongo, Tane and the rest, and that they now worshipped the white men's God, Jehovah. Rongomatane listened with astonishment when his brother chieftain told him that the gods of Aitutaki had been burned or thrown away. "What!" he cried, "you have slighted Oro, and he has not destroyed you? You have burned Rongo, and he has not sent a tempest! You have thrown away Tane, and he has not blighted all your trees and plants!" "No," said Tarnatoa, "our gods were worthless things! They had eyes, but they saw not. They had ears, but they heard not. We have been deceived, you and I, and all our ancestors. We have worshipped lifeless gods that could neither harm nor help us. Come with me, and you shall see how we have treated our useless gods." And he led the astonished Rongomatane down into the hold of the vessel, and showed him the gods of Aitutaki lying tied in bundles, like the logs of wood they were, ready to be taken as trophies of the victories of the Gospel to show to the Christians of Raiatea, and of Britain. "Look!" he said to Rongomatane, "there they lie, the worthless gods we feared." And he spurned them with his foot where they lay in the dust and darkness of the ship's hold. "Burn your gods, brother, throw them away. Worship Jehovah and His Son Jesus Christ, who has set us free from our bondage and our foolish fears."

Next day was Sunday, and the chief of Atiu was persuaded to stay on board that night. He listened to the teachers as they sang their evening hymn, and prayed to the God whom they called "Our Father which art in heaven." Something stirred within his heart. That night Rongomatane slept but little. His mind was full of strange, new thoughts. When day came, he sat beside his brother chieftain while John Williams conducted the service. He heard him read those words from chapter xliv of Isaiah which tell how a man in his ignorance will cut down a tree in the forest, and will warm himself and cook his food with the fire made from the wood of the tree, and then will take a piece of the wood that is left and make a god of it, and fall down and worship it.

"E tika! E tika!" (It is true! It is true!), said Rongomatane. Long after the service ended, Rongomatane sat and wondered. When evening came, he began to talk with Tamatoa and the others from Aitutaki, and with the teachers from Raiatea. At last conviction came to him. His wonder and his doubt gave way to anger at the way he and his ancestors had been deceived into worshipping pieces of wood decorated with red feathers. When John Williams came on deck next morning, Rongomatane rushed up to him and cried, "Give me axes, give me axes!" "What for?" asked the startled missionary! The chief of Atiu replied, "To go ashore and destroy the maraes, to cut in pieces the gods, hew down trees and build a church for the worship of Jehovah!" So dawn came to Atiu Island.

The place of launching, Atiu Island

A great congregation filled the church at Atiu. The missionary and his party had come on the John Williams from Rarotonga, and had brought Tumupu, the son of Rongomatane, chief of Atiu, to say farewell to his people before going to Papua as a missionary teacher. Tumupu rose in the midst of the people among whom he had been brought up, and reminded them of that day when he and two other young men had responded to the call to missionary service. He asked that the prayers of his friends might follow him and his young wife as they went out on their adventure for Christ. Then Tumupu and his wife were set apart for the great task to which they had given their lives. Next day the people came down to the landing-place to see the party off to the ship. Rongomatane, the chief, was there to say farewell to his son and daughter-in-law. There was a break in his voice as he gripped young Tumupu's hand, and bade him farewell, but he was a proud and happy father that day. The old chiefs of Atiu, in the dark heathen days, had sent out their sons to kill and to destroy, with anger and malice in their hearts. But a new day had come to Atiu, and the hearts of the once fierce Atiuans were being tamed by the King of Peace. So now Rongomatane sent out his son not to kill, but to save, not with anger and hate, but with love in his heart. The old war-cry had been; Kia mate! Kia mate! (Kill! Kill!) The new cry which Rongomatane and his men sent ringing after the missionary son of the chief was; "Kia ora na! Kia ora na!" (May you live! May you live!)

PART 5

Exposition of the Apostles' Creed Akamaramaanga no runga i te Akarongo o te au Aposetolo

PART 3 (continued from the last newsletter)

SECTION 2: GOD

The existence of God is the basis of all religious belief. If there is no God, there is no moral obligation. If there is no Almighty Being to whom men owe existence, and to whom they must give account, worship is a vain show and systems of religion are meaningless. Theologians, therefore, from the days of the first Christian apologists to our own time, have endeavoured to establish by proof the doctrine of the Divine existence. To those who accept the authority of Scripture the existence of God is a fact which no argument can overthrow; but as there are many who reject this authority, evidence has been sought elsewhere than in Scripture to establish the doctrine.

The arguments for the Being of God are mainly threefold, being drawn:

1. From the consciousness of mankind.

There is a wonderful agreement among men as to the existence of a great invisible Being by whom the world was created and is governed, and who charges Himself with the control and guidance of its inhabitants and concerns. In a land such as our own, in which Christianity has held place for many centuries, belief in God, however it may fail to produce holy living, is almost universal.

This belief exercises a strong influence, and has contributed not a little to the formation of our national character. It is an atmosphere always around us, sustaining and promoting the healthy life of those even who are the least conscious of being affected by it. The belief is indelibly impressed upon our laws, our literature, and even our everyday occupations. It is stamped upon the relations men sustain to one another. It is this which for one day weekly suspends labour that Christians may have leisure to worship God and to meditate upon the duties they owe to Him. It is in recognition of this that we see tall spires pointing heavenward, and churches opening their portals to the inhabitants of crowded cities and to the dwellers in scattered villages.

In Christian lands the consciousness of men bears testimony to the existence of God, but it is not in such lands only that this consciousness exists and confirms belief in the Divine. In the earliest times, long before history began to be written, such a consciousness was prevalent, leading men to faith in and worship of a Being or Beings infinitely greater than themselves, present with them and presiding, though invisibly, over their destinies.

Before man is found professing faith in pagan deities some idea of God must have existed in his mind. Men did not like to retain God in their knowledge, and so the idea of the Divine became perverted, and in its first simplicity was lost, and the multitude followed numberless shadows all illusory and vain. Still, there lingered remnants and traditions of belief in a Divine Creator and Governor which must have originated in such a primeval revelation as the book of Genesis records. We find there the statement that God revealed Himself to our first parents by direct revelation. They heard and saw and talked with God. They therefore knew of the existence of God by personal perception, and the ideas they held regarding Him were founded on His own manifestation of Himself. Closely connected with this consciousness is the sense of responsibility universally prevalent.

There is a law written on the heart of every rational human being, under the guidance of which he recognises a distinction between good and evil, right and wrong. He possesses a faculty to which the name of conscience has been given, that convicts him of sin when he violates, and approves his conduct when he conforms to, its dictates. However much different peoples and different ages may be at variance in their particular ideas of what is right and what is wrong, the conception itself has place in all of them. There are certain fundamental notions as to what is just and what is unjust, what is virtuous and what is vicious, that find universal or all but universal acceptance.

This power of distinguishing between right and wrong constitutes man a moral being, and separates him by infinite distance from the lower animals. To the beasts that perish there is nothing right or wrong. They live altogether according to nature, and have no responsibility. Man stands in a different relation to the Lawgiver who bestowed on him the faculty of conscience and impressed on his soul a conviction that he will have to give account for all his actions. The Being to whom he must give account is God.

2. From the order and design that are manifest in the universe.

Another ground of this belief is the order manifest in the universe. There is a symmetry that pervades all material things of which we have knowledge. Part is adapted to part; objects are accurately adjusted to each other; "wheels within wheels" move smoothly; every portion fits into and works in harmony with every other portion without discord or jarring. It is unthinkable that these effects should be due to chance or to a cause that is without intelligence. The perfect arrangement of parts that work together must have been planned by a living Being of infinite wisdom, knowledge, and power. This Being, whose creatures they are, must exist. Behind the pervading order there must be personality, purpose, and action. "The fool had said in his heart, there is no God," (Psalm 14:1) but, as nature bears testimony to the existence of an omniscient and omnipotent Creator, reason calls for another conclusion.

3. From the written revelation which claims to have come to men from God Himself.

There is a limit to the knowledge of God which the consciousness of man and the order and design in the universe impart. These serve to establish the truth that God is, but they do not convey the intimation that He is a moral Governor and the rewarder of them that diligently seek Him. They declare little of His character, and are silent as to many of the duties which He requires. To make God known, the teaching of conscience and of reason must be supplemented by revelation. It is in the Bible that the believer finds the strongest proofs of the existence of the Divine Being, and from the Bible he obtains also the most comprehensive and satisfying view of the Deity and of man's relation to Him. He there finds that what he has to believe concerning God is, that He is Jehovah, the Being infinitely and eternally perfect, self-existent, and self-sufficient; the only living and true God, there being none beside Him.

The heathen believed in and worshipped many gods. The untutored savage peopled the groves with them, and the pagan philosopher built innumerable temples in their honour. The Pantheons of Greece and Rome were crowded with the statues of favourite deities. The doctrine of one living and true God was prominent in the revelation given to Israel. God's message by Moses had its foundation truth in the proclamation: "Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God is one Lord." (Deuteronomy 6:4) His glory and His work are shared by no other being. He is the absolute Sovereign and Lord of all creatures. In the Bible, too, man learns that God is his own personal God who cares for him, and to whom he owes love, allegiance, and obedience. All who refuse to believe in the existence of God reject the testimony of Scripture regarding Him, but to such as acknowledge its claim to be the Word of God, the evidence it supplies is convincing and all-sufficient.

Examination of ancient heathen religions and of the views they set forth regarding God shows clearly the distance at which they stand from the revelation of Scripture. The gods of the heathen were of like passions with their worshippers selfish, cruel, vindictive, and without regard for equity or justice in their treatment of men. The God of the Bible, on the other hand, is a righteous God, merciful to His creatures, and desirous of their temporal and eternal wellbeing, and when He inflicts suffering it is not as a passionate Judge, but as a Father who chastens His children for their profit.

The doctrine of the Trinity of Persons in the God-head, though not expressly stated in the Creed, is implied in the clauses which refer to each of the Persons who compose it. There is one God, but in the Godhead there are three Persons, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, whose names indicate the relation in which each stands to the others.

Each of the Persons is complete and perfect God. While there are three Persons in the Godhead, the same in substance, equal in power and glory, these three are one. The doctrine thus stated is termed the doctrine of the Trinity. This word is not found in Scripture, but the truth which it expresses is set forth there, dimly in the Old Testament, distinctly in the New. In the first chapter of Genesis the word "God" is in the Hebrew a plural noun, and yet it is used with a singular verb, thus early seeming to intimate what afterwards is clearly made known, that there is a plurality of Persons, who yet constitute the one living and true God.

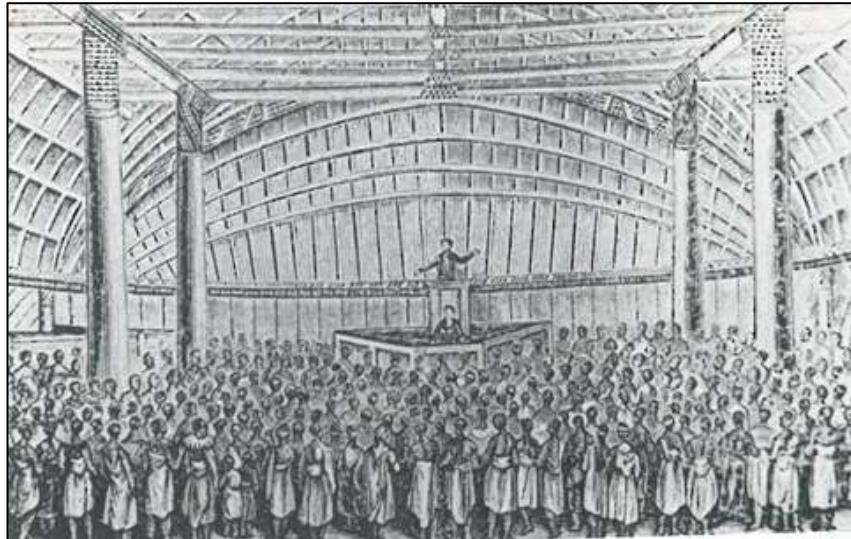

The same indication of plurality in unity appears in the account of man's creation: "Let us make man." (Genesis 1:26) This doctrine of the Trinity is essentially one of revelation. Natural religion testifies to the existence, the personality, and the unity of God, but fails to make known that the unity of God is a unity of three Persons. The doctrine does not contradict reason, it is above reason.

It is sometimes said that the doctrine of the Trinity involves a contradiction in affirming that three Persons are one Person. This charge misrepresents the doctrine. Trinitarians do not say that Father, Son, and Holy Ghost are three Persons in the sense in which three men are three individuals. They believe that there is one God, and that Father, Son, and Holy Ghost are yet so distinct that the Father can address the Son, the Son can address the Father, and the Father can address and send the Spirit. God's ways are not as our ways. He is not a man that He should be limited by the conditions of human relationships. When we say there are three Persons in the Godhead, we use a word applicable to men, which, though the most fitting one at our disposal, must come far short of fully describing the relations of Father, Son, and Holy Ghost to each other. Possessing no celestial language, we cannot fully describe or understand heavenly things. For more information on the Trinity: (See Newsletter nos. 41 – 45).

PART 7

The Writings of an Ethnologist

(A) MEI TE MARAE TAPU KI TE OIRE TAPU: FROM SACRED MARAE TO NATIONHOOD

1812: I no'o ngati te ui tupuna ki roto i to ratou au tapere. Mana enua to ratou ki rungao i te matakeinanga. Mana tangata mei roto i te ui ariki, kau ta'unga, ui mataiapo ma te unga e te potiki, ei arataki, akaāere e te akatere i to ratou au tapere e te vaka. Ko te turanga teia o te aronga mana tei turuturu ia e te kopu tangata. E kavamani kopu tangata ta ratou, iki'ia e te kopu tangata, no te kopu tangata. No te kopu tangata te enua, te tao'onga, te marae e te tapu. Na ratou te kavamani mua e te evangeria mua.

E ta'ua tapu to ratou – ko te marae. Kare ra e basileia Kuki Airani. Kare katoa e tuatua basileia i roto i to tatou reo e te tuatua oire. Kare teia nga tuatua i anau ake mei roto mai i te reo Ebera o te Ngati Iuda kio tatou. Vaitata maīra ra, tona tae'anga mai mei te iva mata'iti arai. E au marae nunui to ratou ei akako'uko'u ia ratou ki te ngai okotai i tetai au rave pure e te akono'anga enua. I Mangaia, Atiu, Mauke, Mitiaro e Aitutaki, ko O-Rongo te marae nui tei tā'okotai i te enua ki te ngai okota'i. I Rarotonga, ko Taputapuatea, Pukuruvaanui ma Araitetonga o Takitumu, ko Vaipae o Teauotonga, e Kauarikirangi o Arorangi nga marae nunui. Ko teia au marae nei te pu'anga e te punanga ma'ata o te kopu tangata e te aronga mana o te enua. To ratou au oire tapu teia i te au ati'anga anga'anga a te kau ta'unga o te aronga mana o te enua.

1912: Riro tatou ki te 'au Nutireni, e kua anau to tatou nga ingoa basileia mei te Hervey Islands e te Cook's Islands. Na Peritane te topa'anga ingoa mua ko te Hervey Islands i te 1888. Na te Rangatira Tute - Capt Cook - i topa te ingoa Hervey ki runga ia Manuae, no tona pu ma'ata i Peritane. Riro mai teia ingoa ei ingoa basileia no te pa enua tonga i te 'au Peritane. Kare te pa enua tokerau i roto i teia ko'u'anga. Tei roto ratou i te akatere'anga a te akono'anga LMS mei Raiatea mai. (Kloosterman 1977) Na Nutireni te rua o te topa'anga ingoa Cook's Islands i te 1901, ei akama'aara ia Rangatira Tute. (Gilson 1980 Cook Islands 1830-1950) Tuatau teia i topiri ia mai te pa enua tokerau, e te 'au Nutireni.

2012: Kua tupu te mana o te oire tapu ki Avarua e kua mana a Rarotonga ei turanga pou no te evangeria. Kua riro katoa ei mou i te ture a te kavamani Maori mei te mata'iti 1965. Kua mana te tika'anga evangeria ki roto i te Papa Ture Metua o te basileia. Kua mana te ture ki roto katoa i te Papa Ture Metua e te tika'anga o te tangata rikiriki kia autara i tona manako, e kia akamori i tona atua ma te tāmanamanatā kore. Kua kakara te rongo o te oire tapu e te vaka tapu ko Teauotonga, koia e Avarua.

2050: me titi'a ki mua penei ka neke te oire tapu o te basileia ki Aitutaki. Kua akamata te eru moana no te manganisi. Kua tauria te enua Ara'ura e nga kamupani nunui o teia nei ao. Kua neke te oire tapu o te basileia ki Aitutaki tei vaitata kia Nga Pu Toru e te rere pairere ki te pa enua tokerau. Kua neke katoa te turanga o te kavamani. Kua riro mai to Aitutaki ngai to'anga pairere ei turanga international i raro ake i te tauturu a te kavamani Marike. Kua riro mai a Rarotonga ei neke'anga ou no te api'i evangeria e te apii tua toru.

There was no capital town for us in 1812 as there was no nation state at the time. The words oire and basileia borrowed from the bible are foreign words and did not exist, until nine years later. But the tribes and districts had their own major marae centres where the principal ceremonies were performed. The principal marae drew people to it on occasions for the performance of public ceremonies. On Mangaia, the principal marae was Marae O-Rongo where the most important religious political ceremonies were performed. Similarly on Atiu, Mauke and Mitiaro. On Rarotonga, several key marae like Taputapuatea, Pukuruva'anui and Araitetonga of Takitumu and Kauarikirangi in Arorangi or Vaipae of Te'auotonga were the centres of activity like the offerings of the first fruits of the season.

1912: Rarotonga had been established during the missionary era as the main religious centre and later during the British era in 1888, as the administrative and political centre of the national government of the Hervey

Islands. Avarua became the capital of the country. The British later moved out in 1900 because of the high costs involved in running a Hervey Islands protectorate. New Zealand stepped up to the mark as colonial administrators in 1901. The northern group islands were included by New Zealand in our national borders and we became the Cook's Islands under her regime. Political mana shifted from Avarua to Wellington, though Avarua remained as the capital of the group.

2012: The township of Avarua had grown from around the two ports in the district to an extended physical entity from Tupapa in the east to Tuoro Black Rock in the west. The main port shifted from Avarua to Avatiu after self governing rule in 1965. Avarua as the township had established herself as the political, religious and business centre of the country. Political control of the country had been vested in Maori hands since 1965. New Zealand provided home rule as part of the United Nations decolonisation scheme.

2050: Aitutaki will probably become the new economic centre. Her proximity to the northern seabed mining industry, her international airport and central geographical location makes her a possible candidate. Rarotonga may remain a centre of regional importance for religious and tertiary studies. But the political and mining business centre will shift to Aitutaki.

(B) EVANGERIA TAITO, EVANGERIA OU – OLD & NEW RELIGIONS

Mataiti 1812 E tini atua to te ui tupuna. Te ma'ata o te atua no te ariki, te ma'ata katoa o tona mana e te maro'i'o'i. Teia tetai au atua o ratou; A'a, Avatea, Anuanua, Eke, Etu Rere, Ngoio, Iti Manuka, Ka'ukura, Onu, To'ora, Mango, Tutavake, Te Uira, Tane, Rongo, Rongomatane, Ta'akura, Ruanuku, Rangatira, Tongaiti, Tangaroa, Marumaomao, Papa, Miru, e te vai atura. Ko te ariki te orometua ma'ata. Ratou te va'a amama o te au atua. Tuatua mai te tini atua na roto ia ratou. Paunu ia te meitaki o te enua ki runga i te turanga o te ariki ki te au atua. Me meitaki a ia, meitaki katoa te matakine nanga e te enua. Ko te kau ta'unga te rave anga'anga ki roto i te au tapere e te au vaka. Me autu te ariki i tana tamaki, peke te au atua o tei inga, nona. Tetai ati'anga ka keiā atua ratou ui ariki i te atua o tetai ariki, meia Tangiia i keiā i te atua o Tutapu i tupu ei to raua pekapeka.

1912. Kua mou te evangeria Ngati Iuda ei evangeria okotai na te basileia Kuki Airani. Kua mou nga mangamanga evangeria a te London Missionary Society o Peritane, te Katorika mei Orani, Varani e Peritane; pera te Ra Itu mei Marike mai. Ratou nga mangamanga evangeria o te Keresitiano mei Europa mai. Muri ake i te tamaki'anga rua 1945, kua tae mai te Momani mei Marike mai. Muri mai i te 1950s, kua tae mai te Bahai mei Nutireni. Akono'anga takake teia mei te Keresitiano. Ka rua akono'anga akamori atua a te basileia. I muri rava mai i te mata'iti 1980s, kua anau te Jehovah's Witness, e te Assembly of God e tetai au evangeria Keresitiano mei Marike mai. Kua anau katoa ta ratou Ekalesia mei roto atu i te Ekalesia metua a te LMS e te Katorika. Kua reo Papa'a ta ratou ako'anga. Kare i reo Maori mei te evangeria mua rai a te CICC, Katorika e te Ra Itu. Kua akatangi kita tetai au evangeria ki roto i te are pure. Kua tuke ta ratou akamori'anga mei te Ekalesia taito. Kua imene Papa'a.

2012: Kua tauī te ingoa LMS ki te Cook Islands Christian Church. Kua ma'ata te manga evangeria. Kua akatu i to ratou are pure ki uta i te ara metua e ki runga i te au kaōa i roto i te tai roto o Manihiki. Akaipo ta tatou anau, ki te iti tangata akono'anga Muslim, Confucius, Buddha, Hindu e te vai atura. I teia ra kua mou to tatou iti tangata e tini atua mei te atua lehova o te Keresitiano, ki te atua Bahai, Buddha, e te atua Muslim. Kua anau te toru o te uki ki roto i te akono'anga takake mei te 1821. Kua oki akaou tatou mei te akamori tini atua i te mataiti 1812, ki te akamori tini evangeria e te tini atua i teia ra.

2050. Kua uri te matangi o te evangeria ki te tua akarua. Anau te evangeria ou mei Tiapani, Initia e Tinito. Anau to ratou orometua ou mei akau mamao. Riro katoa ta tatou anau ei orometua no teia au evangeria ou.

In 1812, we worshipped many gods to a tribe – the more the powerful. The ariki were the spokesmen of their gods and the most powerful tribes had as many as 7 or 13 gods as listed above in the Maori section. The kau ta'unga were the deacons on the various marae and inside the vaka and tapere. Winning tribes took the gods of the defeated. Some even stole the gods of their neighbours as in the case of Tangiia who stole one of Tutapu's gods.

By 1912, several denominations of the Christian faith from Europe had established their Christian denominations on our shores. The Catholics and Seventh day Adventists had arrived by the late 1880s and 90s from Europe.. They were followed by the Latter Day Saints or Mormons from America after World War 2 in 1945. The Bahai Faith followed in the 1950s from New Zealand and the Assembly of God and Jehovah's Witness from America after the 1980s.

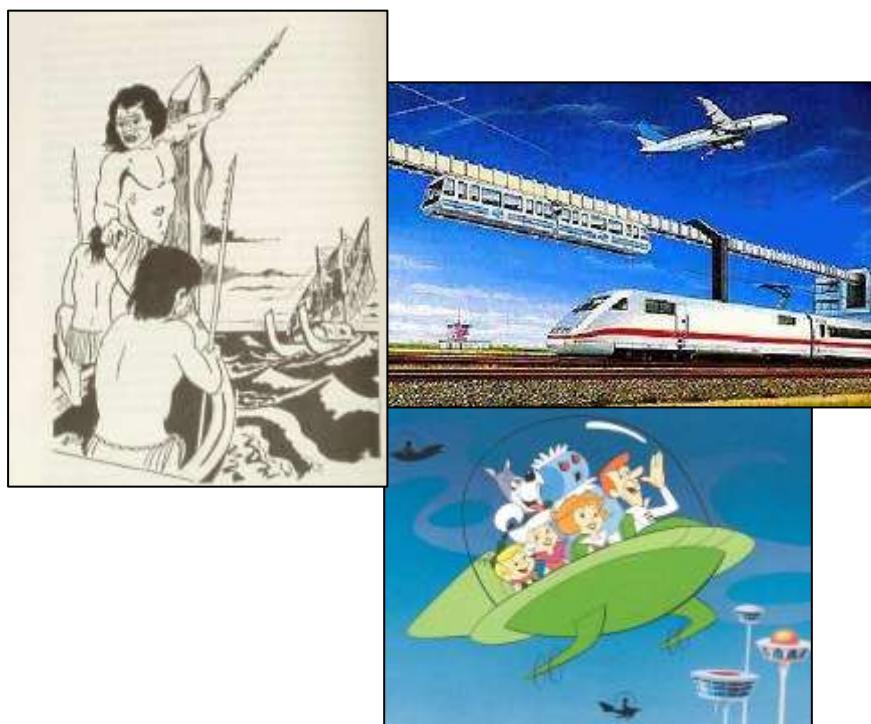

The latter period is very important because in 1982 the constitution of the country enshrined Human Rights and freedom of worship and freedom of speech. Before that, the four Christian denominations of the CICC, Catholics, SDA and LDS were the only accepted Christian denominations of the country.

Today 2012 we have multiple Christian denominations and two religions. We have Christianity and Bahai and about seven Christian denominations. Many of our people are now husbands and wives to other ethnic groups that have their own religions like Muslim, Hindi, and Buddhism. International travel has introduced the religions of the world and their converts to our people. Some have become converts.

By 2050, we should see eastern temples of these religions in our country. Many of our descendants and in laws would embrace the religions of the world – other than Christianity.
