3. GOSPEL DAY ON RAROTONGA

The Nikao CICC ground was the venue for this year's National Gospel Day Commemoration on Rarotonga. October 26 every year is public holiday in the Cook Islands in recognition of this important day in the history of the country, and all CICC branches in the country plus some branches in New Zealand and Australia commemorate this day with their own programmes. This mainly photo-based article is about how the day was remembered on Rarotonga which comprises of 6 branches.

Programme

The programme for the day was as follows:

8.30am The 6 branches on Rarotonga march in for the opening service
Service conducted by the Nikao CICC including message by the CICC President which was delivered by the Ekalesia minister in the President's absence overseas

- Nuku (Biblical dramas): 1. Nikao - Moses
- 2. Arorangi - David
- 3. Titikaveka - Daniel
- 4. Ngatangiia - Jesus
- 5. Matavera - Paul
- 6. Avarua - Peter

2.30pm Nuku closes for the year

Each of the 6 branches/Ekalesias was allocated the above Bible characters to do a drama on some aspects of their lives. The time allocated was 30 minutes from start to finish; included in this timing the marching on and off the stage, the actual enactments as well as the singing. The programme was well organised and ran smoothly which no doubt the nice sunny day had an important part to play.

6. NEWS FROM THE CICC NATIONAL YOUTH COUNCIL OF AOTEAROA

Tangike and greetings to all the Superiors of the Cook Islands Christian Church, the General Executive Committee and all the CICC branches worldwide. It is my greatest pleasure to reveal to you an operational insight of the Auckland Youth Council of New Zealand which was proudly hosted by the National Youth Council Executives of Aotearoa.

The official opening event of this gathering was held on the 2nd of May by the President of the CICC Council of Aotearoa NZ, Rev Temere Poaru. Six youth groups were present namely; Auckland City, Mangere, Manurewa South Mall, Otara Branch, Motutapu and Otara Central. One of the brilliant activities the youth performed was the Youth Rally. Each youth group came up with two items of composed traditional hymn and choir based on the Tia, Sunday 21st of October. We have also implemented a culture day event in our programme which was also held on the 10th of October. Another exciting event that interested and inspired our youth to participate.

Auckland City Youth with their String Band

Manurewa St Mall with their action song

As a token of our appreciation, we have given a participation certificate to all youth groups who have involved in the Auckland Youth Council activities this year. The programme for the year ended with an official closing held at the Atiu Hall on Sunday the 22nd of November, and again by Papa Rev. Temere Poaru.

Acknowledgement

I would like to acknowledge the President of Enuamanu, Papa Maitu and the Enuamanu Executives for donating the use of the Atiu Hall. In so many occasions held by the CICC Auckland Youth Council this hall was used free of charge. Secondly, another effective compliment heading out to Papa Rev. Temere Poaru for the motivations, encouragements, guidance and concerns for the success of our youth. Not forgetting to mention the Mangere Minister, Rev. Taa Karena for the amazing and full support he has sustained from the beginning of this year's Auckland Youth Council programme to the end. A tremendous leadership character he has shown. Also, Rev. Rahai Nanua and Rev. Tatairangi Williams for the exceptional support.

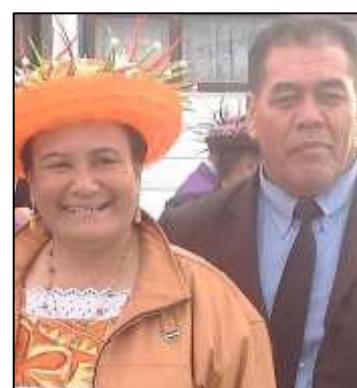

President of the CICC Auckland Council of Aotearoa – Rev. Temere Poaru

Mangere Minister – Rev. Taa Karena

Furthermore, in this Auckland Youth Council, we have presented a visitation programme simply to experience the wealth and growth each youth group as part of our duties as the National Youth Executives of Aotearoa. On Sunday 15th November 2015, we visited the Auckland City Youth to fulfil our expectations as youth leaders. We were also privileged and honoured because the visit was accompanied by the Mangere Minister and Wife, Rev. Taa Karena and Mrs Teinakore Karena and the Mama Principal, Mrs Emma Aitau and Mrs T. Takairangi with the support of Rev. Mr & Mrs Richard Matara.

The Auckland City youth performed all activities in church. Predominantly the bible readings, Maori and English, the lead traditional hymns, Sunday School hymns and the vespers as well. A question raised by the Apianga Mr Ngariki Mare (how would you receive God's help?) who did the sermon was answered by each individual youth by singing one line each from the chorus "Tauturu mai iaku kia irinaki" as they approach the congregation.

It was very spiritually touching how it was executed by the Auckland City Youth. After the service we were all welcomed (Kokii Koka Tangaroa) in the hall for the reception. A tremendous effort and performance from the Auckland City Youth again, accommodating us on the day with everything. Speakers at the reception, the Chairman of the National Youth Council of Aotearoa (Mr Nooroa Takairangi), Rev. Taa Karena, Rev. Richard Matara and the Church secretary Mr Natearoa Vaipaata gave words of encouragements and appreciations to the youth as a parent would to their child.

In conclusion, we look forward to continuing this vital journey visiting as much youth groups as possible in the near future. It is also confirmed that we are due to visit the Mangere Youth on Sunday the 29th of November '15. Because the submissions for our newsletter closes on the 27th November '15, we are unable to include the outcome event for this visit instantly. Once again, thank you very much Auckland City Youth and leaders, the Ekalesia and Minister. Keep up the outstanding work serving our Lord and Saviour. All in all, on behalf of the National Youth Council Executive of Aotearoa and the Auckland Youth Council, I would like to wish all the CICC churches a very happy Christmas and a Prosperous New Year. I quote: Acts 4: 32 says..."All the believers were one in heart and mind. No one claimed that any of his possessions was his own, but they shared everything they had..." God Bless

*National Youth Council Secretary of Aotearoa, NZ.

10. WHEN REV. OIRUA RASMUSSEN LEFT FOR NIKAO

Rev. Oirua Rasmussen (pictured on right and elsewhere in this article) is quite a rare breed within the circle of CICC ministers. After High School, he started off as a laboratory technician at Rarotonga Hospital. Then left and enrolled at Takamoa Theological College on Rarotonga in 1993 to be trained as a minister of religion and after graduating in 1997, he was posted as minister-in-charge in the Omoka (1997-2003), Mitiaro (2003-2007), Atiu (2007-2011) and Matavera (2011-15) parishes of the CICC. In all 4 parishes that he served, he left behind marks that only qualified and experienced builders are able to showcase, particularly as regards the last 3 parishes for which photos are available. Lets take a look at the building projects he supervised as Master Builder while minister of the church at the same time.

Rev. O. Rasmussen (2009), from the collection of Dane Rasmussen

GIBEONA, Matavera CICC Sunday School Hall (2014/15) – new building (note: The Ekalesia chose Gibeona out of 4 names suggested by Rev. Oirua for the hall, it did not have a name before, so the minister plus the Ekalesia chose the name together)

Departing for Nikao church

As the saying goes, there is a time for everything; a time to arrive, a time to carry out one's designated duties and responsibilities, a time to rest, a time to work collectively and celebrate what has been achieved, and a time to move on. Rev. Oirua came to Matavera in November 2011 as a result of the 2011 CICC assembly-approved ministers' rotation programme of 2011-15, and moved to Nikao on 30 November 2015 again as a result of the 2015 assembly-approved ministers' rotation programme. Nikao has already earmarked some building projects for him and, given his passion for this field, he will no doubt welcome the opportunity as a chance to continue practicing his "sideline hobby," as he likes putting it.

All the best to you Papa Orometua, well done and meitaki poria for the mammoth task you facilitated whilst in Matavera and may your special talent continue to be used by those who will seek your assistance.

12. 87 YEARS OF GUIDING IN THE COOK ISLANDS

he host of this year's Cook Islands Day was planned by the St. Joseph Girl Guides Company on Thursday 15th October 2015 at 5.00pm held at the Nukutere College Ground for the celebration as well to remember the “International Day of the Girl – 10 million voices.”

Every year on the 15th October the Girl Guides in the Cook Islands celebrate this special day to commemorate the establishment of guiding in the Cook Islands. The original date is the 26th October 1928, but because the Gospel Day is remembered on this date, the leaders back then changed to the 15th October, a number which happens to represent the 15 islands in the Cook Islands.

The evening program started with a horse-shoe formation for all members that turned up from the 7 Guide Companies on Rarotonga. Devotion was led by the St Joseph Girl Guides Company with their leaders Ms Tatari Mitchell and Ms Peggy Turua and all their committees and supporters. The formal part is to light, blow and cut the birthday cake by the senior members that attended this special program.

The girls were put into groups to participate in the challenges. The first activity is called Use your Voice “Millennium Development Goals (MDG) for Quiz Questions and Global Bowling.” The second activity is called “Building the Tallest Tower” using few resources given by the organizers.

The evening program concluded with the blessing of food parcel from each guide company donating to our Takamoa Theological Students and a kaikai for all the members to enjoy the evening. Happy Birthday to our members on Rarotonga, Outer Islands, New Zealand, Australia and around the world.

MAPU TAIA (OBE)

Our dad, Mapu Tangata Tutai Taia, known to many as Mapu Taia, was born on 28 April 1939 in Nagtiarua on the Island of Mauke in the Cook Islands. His parents were the late Akerere Turaki (nee Kurauru) and Takaie also known as Tangata Okirua ki Papua. Dad never knew his father, as he died 3 days before he was born, leaving his mother (the late Mama Akerere Turaki) a young widow of 19 years of age to look after him. However, dad's grandparents felt sorry for dad's mother so when he was 9 months old, they formally adopted dad which gave dad's mother Mama Ake the opportunity to look for another husband. Therefore, from that time and on, dad's grandparents were responsible for his upbringing. They were strict Seventh Days Adventists so dad was virtually brought up in a fairly religious home. Dad always believes that this aspect of his life had a great influence on his future behaviour.

Dad was a unique person. Unique in a way that he was multi gifted. He was one of a kind. Since childhood, dad was very much interested in cultural activities such as history, genealogies, Cook Islands dancing and so forth. During his school days, in 1949, dad was chosen to lead a traditional welcome ceremony and to perform a challenge for the arrival of the Governor General Lord Bernard Frieburg. Dad was only 10 years at the time. The naval vessel HMNZS "Belona" was doing its normal good will visit to the Cook Islands and Mauke Island was one of her stopovers. Dad always says that that particular event was his initiation into the world of traditional learning. Cook Islands Culture and customs are dear to dad's heart. He was very knowledgeable in many areas especially with Ngaputoru genealogies, chants and customs. He was a great public speaker and an exceptional Tumu Korero. He was well known to many people in the Pacific countries and he has special bond with the Maori people of Aotearoa because of our ancestor Paikea who settled in Aotearoa in later years.

Dad also excelled in his sporting career. He loved rugby, athletics and any ball games. During his young days in Rarotonga, he played "A" grade rugby for Avatiu and Tupapa Clubs.

Dad was also academically gifted. After Grade 8 in Mauke, dad won a scholarship in April 1953 to go to the Post Primary School in Rarotonga. Dad sailed to Rarotonga on the motor vessel "Maui Pomare" to attend school there. He further enhanced his education in Rarotonga and did extremely well.

Dad himself wrote that factors which have influenced his life are:

- Religious upbringing
- Excellent home environment and feeling of being loved
- Community involvement in island affairs, cultural activities, sports, local social and economic development, church, etc
- Personal achievements
- Educational background

Our Dad is a great loss to the Pacific Nations and Aotearoa, and especially his birth island of Mauke. He has left behind many legacy and great work and I think I am almost right in saying that Mauke has lost a unique and talented warrior.

Personal Reflections

4 thought-provoking stories for easy reading/e nga tua ei tavarenga tangata

(1) KO TEIA MEA E RO

1. AKATOMOANGA

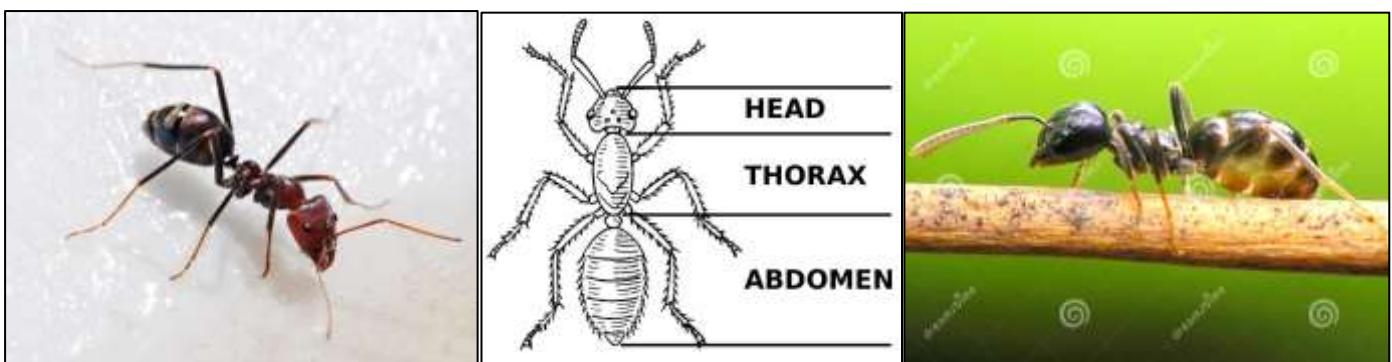

E umere ua ana au i teia manumanu e ro, ant i te reo porena: kare takiri au i kite ake iaia i te noo marie ua anga me kore te moe ra, tei runga ua aia i tona vaevae e aere ra ki ko e ki ko. E oti, kua taiku katoaia tona puapinga i roto i te Bibilia, tei tuatua te tata Maseli 6.6 e, “Ka aere na ka akara i te ro e tenana tangata moe ua, ka akamaara i tana ravenga kia pakari koe.” Aaaeee, koia’i teia manumanu, kare takiri tona turanga meangiti i riro ei kopae atu anga na te tangata iaia, kua riro ra ei akara matarikianga na Davida, i manako ei aia e ka akamaroiroi mai ia tatou i teia ra kia aere kia akara meitaki i teia manu meangiti rava kare takiri e kitea atuanga e, e puapinga tona.

Noatu ra te reira, anoano au kia kite oonu atu ki roto i teia manumanu i te mea oki e kua karanga mai te Bibilia mei te mea atura e, e apianga tetai i roto iaia ka tau kia tatou te tangata nei, e iaku ka kite mai i tetai au mea ou no runga iaia, teia taku kiaku uaorai, eaa oki ka kore’i au e oronga (share) atu i te reira au mea kia kotou e tatau nei i teia nutileta. No reira ko tena to tatou tumu tapura, te tuatua no te ro. Kare i te apianga a te Bibilia no runga i te ro – na te au tavini o te Atua te reira tuanga – no runga ra i tona tu, karanga paa tatou e, tona tua tapapa. Me tae tatou ki te openga o teia pupuaa’anga, irinaki au e ka pumaana tatou i te kiteanga i te tu tika’i o teia manumanu ta tatou e manata ana me kore e uti ua ana i te au atianga me kite tatou iaia e tona au taeake i runga i te kaingakai, i roto i te kaparata kai, i roto i te au ngai varangaanga kakau, e te vai atura, e au ngai kare rava tatou i anoano ia ratou kia tae ki reira.

2. TUA TAPAPA

Teia i raro nei tei rauka mai mei runga i te internet, akakoromaki mai tei roto i te rua o to tatou reo:

Ants are eusocial insects of the family Formicidae /for'misidi:/ and, along with the related wasps and bees, belong to the order Hymenoptera. Ants evolved from wasp-like ancestors in the mid-Cretaceous period between 110 and 130 million years ago and diversified after the rise of flowering plants. More than 12,500 of an estimated total of 22,000 species have been classified. They are easily identified by their elbowed antennae and the distinctive node-like structure that forms their slender waists.

Ants form colonies that range in size from a few dozen predatory individuals living in small natural cavities to highly organised colonies that may occupy large territories and consist of millions of individuals. Larger colonies consist mostly of sterile, wingless females forming castes of "workers", "soldiers", or other specialised groups. Nearly all ant colonies also have some fertile males called "drones" and one or more fertile females called "queens". The colonies are described as superorganisms because the ants appear to operate as a unified entity, collectively working together to support the colony.

Ants have colonised almost every landmass on Earth. The only places lacking indigenous ants are Antarctica and a few remote or inhospitable islands. Ants thrive in most ecosystems and may form 15–25% of the terrestrial animal biomass. Their success in so many environments has been attributed to their social organisation and their ability to modify habitats, tap resources, and defend themselves. Their long co-evolution with other species has led to mimetic, commensal, parasitic, and mutualistic relationships.

*Ant societies have division of labour, communication between individuals, and an ability to solve complex problems. These parallels with human societies have long been an inspiration and subject of study. Many human cultures make use of ants in cuisine, medication, and rituals. Some species are valued in their role as biological pest control agents. Their ability to exploit resources may bring ants into conflict with humans, however, as they can damage crops and invade buildings. Some species, such as the red imported fire ant (Solenopsis invicta), are regarded as invasive species, establishing themselves in areas where they have been introduced accidentally.*

*Anthropomorphised ants have often been used in fables and children's stories to represent industriousness and cooperative effort. They also are mentioned in religious texts. In the Book of Proverbs in the Bible, ants are held up as a good example for humans for their hard work and cooperation. Aesop did the same in his fable The Ant and the Grasshopper. In the Quran, Sulayman is said to have heard and understood an ant warning other ants to return home to avoid being accidentally crushed by Sulayman and his marching army. In parts of Africa, ants are considered to be the messengers of the deities. Some Native American mythology, such as the Hopi mythology, considers ants as the very first animals. Ant bites are often said to have curative properties. The sting of some species of Pseudomyrmex is claimed to give fever relief. Ant bites are used in the initiation ceremonies of some Amazon Indian cultures as a test of endurance.*

The History of film began in the 1890s, when motion picture cameras were invented and film production companies started to be established. Because of the limits of technology, films of the 1890s were under a minute long and until 1927 motion pictures were produced without sound. The first decade of motion picture saw film moving from a novelty to an established large-scale entertainment industry. The films became several minutes long consisting of several shots. The first rotating camera for taking panning shots was built in 1897. The first film studios were built in 1897. Special effects were introduced and film continuity, involving action moving from one sequence into another, began to be used. In 1900s, continuity of action across successive shots was achieved and the first close-up shot was introduced. Most films of this period were what came to be called "chase films". The first use of animation in movies was in 1899. The first feature length multi-reel film was a 1906 Australian production. The first successful permanent theatre showing only films was "The Nickelodeon" in Pittsburgh in 1905. By 1910, actors began to receive screen credit for their roles, and the way to the creation of film stars was opened. Regular newsreels were exhibited from 1910 and soon became a popular way for finding out the news. Overall, from about 1910, American films had the largest share of the market in Australia and in all European countries except France.

New film techniques were introduced in this period including the use of artificial lighting, fire effects and low-key lighting (i.e. lighting in which most of the frame is dark) for enhanced atmosphere during sinister scenes. As films grew longer, specialist writers were employed to simplify more complex stories derived from novels or plays into a form that could be contained on one reel and be easier to be understood by the audience, the audience that was new to this form. Genres began to be used as categories; the main division was into comedy and drama, but these categories were further subdivided. During the First World War there was a complex transition for the film industry. The exhibition of films changed from short one-reel programs to feature films. Exhibition venues became larger and began charging higher prices. By 1914, continuity cinema was the established mode of commercial cinema. One of the advanced continuity techniques involved an accurate and smooth transition from one shot to another.

Making movies in the early days (Google images)

The desire for wartime propaganda created a renaissance in the film industry in Britain, with realistic war dramas. The onset of American involvement in World War II also brought a proliferation of films as both patriotism and propaganda. The House Un-American Activities Committee investigated Hollywood in the early 1950s. During the immediate post-war years the cinematic industry was also threatened by television, and the increasing popularity of the medium meant that some film theatres would bankrupt and close. Following the end of World War II in the 1940s, the following decade, the 1950s, marked a 'Golden Age' for non-English world cinema.

In the 1890s, films were seen mostly via temporary storefront spaces and traveling exhibitors or as acts in vaudeville programs. A film could be under a minute long and would usually present a single scene, authentic or staged, of everyday life, a public event, a sporting event or slapstick. There was little to no cinematic technique, usually white and without sound.

(3) THE STORY BEHIND THE CICC TRADITIONAL CHURCH SONGS (IMENE TUKI)

1. BACKGROUND

Visitors to the Cook Islands or those who have had the privilege of attending services of the Cook Islands Christian Church (CICC) have no doubt been intrigued by the church's traditional church hymns – known locally as Imene Tuki - because of its uniqueness in the church musical environment. How did this type of singing come about, what does it mean, how come it sounded the way it does, what's behind it? Well, I'm putting my Sherlock Holmes investigative hat on to help me look for clues to this particular mystery. My findings may not be similar to anyone else's who may care to also investigate, but it doesn't matter, that's theirs and this is mine – investigators, after all, don't always agree on the outcomes. So make another cuppa, sit back, enjoy your reading – and be more informed on the subject matter in the end.

2. ORIGIN

Imene is sing or singing or song or sung, tuki is the part sung by men which is probably best described as grunting of staccato, nonsensical syllables. So imene tuki is characterized more by the way the lines earmarked for men are sung. The local word imene may have come from the English word hymn. If that is the case then that of course is the name given by the early Missionaries to a custom that was already in existence prior to their arrival. Needless to say, singing was already a way of life in the country, in fact it has a name given to where entertainment was normally staged: Are Korero – House of Entertainment.

It is safe to say that imene tuki is an art that the LMS (London Missionary Society) popularized. LMS arrived and introduced Christianity to Tahiti in 1797. After 24 years there, it came to the Cook Islands in 1821 accompanied by local Tahitian trained pastors. There are a lot of similarities between the native Tahitian and Cook Islands languages which naturally made it easier for the Tahitian Missionaries to do their missionary work in the Cook Islands as opposed to the English Missionaries. As is the case in other countries, native Cook Islanders had customs, practices and festivities prior to European contact which of course includes different types of singing. So when the Tahitian Missionaries came, they naturally found a good way of disseminating the Word of God to the people, i.e. by inserting Bible-based texts into the songs sung by the natives, particularly that type of singing known locally as Ute, almost similar to Tahiti's Tamara. And in the process of doing that, they inadvertently incorporated and promoted the Himene Tamara which Wikipedia the free Encyclopedia defines as follows:

“Himene Tarava is a style of traditional Tahitian music, sung a cappella in a highly rhythmic style by polyphonic choirs. The word tarava means to be spread out, to be gathered. This form of singing is common in French Polynesia and the Cook Islands, and is distinguished by a unique drop in pitch at the end of the phrases, which is a characteristic formed by several different voices; it is also accompanied by steady grunting of staccato, nonsensical syllables by the men.”

The Encyclopedia also defines imene tuki as follows:

“An Imene tuki 'hymn of grunts' is a traditional hymn of the Cook Islands. It is unaccompanied singing noted for a drop in pitch at the end of phrases, and rhythmic nonsensical syllables, comparable to Scat singing. Similar nonsense syllables and improvisations are found in Tahitian Himene tarava.”

On the basis of the above, my conclusion is therefore this; Imene Tuki is a cross between the Tahitian Himene Tamara and the Cook Islands Ute. Unlike these 2, however, imene tuki is principally Bible-based.

3. SIGNIFICANCE IN COOK ISLANDS SOCIETY

Imene tuki in the Cook Islands is sung in the CICC parishes during church and church-related events, as well as special non-church events such as some Government functions and traditional ceremonies when a CICC minister is asked to officiate over. It is one type of church song in the CICC, the other type being the Sunday School chorus-type hymns whose tunes are based on the tunes of choruses and hymns brought in by the LMS Missionaries. It can perhaps be added to these 2, a third type of singing which is popular with the church's Youth groups, and that is the musical-dance-type of singing. Although the latter is not strictly a type of singing sung by the Youth, nevertheless the Youth tend to use the music during Youth rallies and other youth events.

Imene tuki is sung every Sunday in every service of the CICC in all of its 70 branches in the Cook Islands, New Zealand and Australia. The main service on Sundays includes 2 imene tuki and 2 Sunday School hymns. In the early morning services of Wednesday, Friday and Sunday in the Cook Islands and in those hand-full of branches in New Zealand and Australia who have adopted the Cook Islands branches programme, there are 2 imene tuki to be sung. So in essence, given the number of CICC branches and the frequency of services, close to 300 imene tuki compositions are sung on a weekly basis in the CICC branches. Added to this would be around 100 times for non-church related services or activities in all 3 regions (Cook Is, NZ, Aust). This then adds up to around 400 imene tuki compositions that are sung every week – or a staggering 20,800 times on an annual basis.

Imene tuki, when sung during Uapou sessions, can be quite lively and inviting of both men and women to be upstanding and dance to the rhythm of the music. Clockwise from top left: the Mamas of Ekalesia Atiu (2010), the Mamas and Papas of the Ekalesias in Melbourne, Aust, during a combined service and uapou (2011) and the Mamas of Ekalesia Matavera during Pentecost service (2015).

4. COMPOSERS

There is no set formula or standard or method to become an imene tuki composer and when one does become such a person, he or she is usually regarded highly or often relied upon by the Ekalesia or church group that he/she is part of because to become an imene tuki composer is one talent that is not easily acquired. Composers can be a youth, middle-aged or elderly/retired. The ability to compose an imene tuki is not easy; on average, there is probably only 1 or 2 composers in each CICC parish. They are privileged to get the talent by any of the following means:

- i. Taught to them by their close relatives (parents, grand-parents, uncles, aunties, cousins)

- ii. Taught to them by other composers whom they are not related
- iii. Acquired by them naturally without anyone teaching them, or as a result – some claim – of an external intervention.

The more experienced composers are able to compose an imene tuki virtually on the spot while others take longer, like days. In a lot of cases, the composer is supported by his own wife who is also familiar with imene tuki and in such cases, the two of them work on the imene tuki to get the required tuning right before taking it back to the parish to teach the other members.

5. COMPOSITION

Purpose

As mentioned previously, imene tuki is largely biblical or church-related. They are composed on the basis of the following:

- A particular story or passage in the Bible; in some imene tuki, up to 80% of the script comes straight out of the Bible while the balance (20%) are words or phrases used to enable proper connection of the lines or verses.
- A story or event or happening not from the Bible but has a spiritual meaning that deserves an imene tuki to be composed for the occasion.
- A particular event in the parish, such as dedication or commissioning of a new or renovated building (church, hall, minister's residence) that incorporates a thanksgiving spirit.
- A particular event that the parish is doing or hosting, such as Gospel Day commemoration, special Christmas and New Year services, etc.

In all imene tuki compositions, the purpose is really to recite the event in a traditional song that has a spiritual flavor attached to it, as simple as that.

It is common for youth groups in the CICC parishes to include imene tuki in their programmes such as the ones above. Clockwise from top left: Nikao Youth (2008), Avarua Youth (2008), Hastings Youth (2010) and Titikaveka Youth (2014).

Duration

A standard imene tuki has 3 verses comprising 4 to 6 lines per verse. Longer imene tuki can go up to 6 verses totaling over 20 lines, and shorter ones can be as brief as just one verse and up to 4 lines. Most imene tuki is started by just one mama as she does the first line or the best part of the first line, and the rest of the singers follow. However, in a very small number of cases (like less than 2%), it is the men that actually starts, it indeed is quite rare for that to happen but it does and this writer has no idea what prompts those compositions to be led by men.

Short imene tuki compositions can take just 1 or 2 minutes while longer ones can take up to 5 minutes. These timings take into account the repetitive nature of some lines which is how imene tuki is sung. There have been rare cases whereby all lines of the imene tuki are sung just once from beginning to the end which means the number of lines would probably be close to or over 30.

Content

A lot of the imene tuki compositions are poetic in nature, telling stories sometimes in a rather colourful nature. For someone who is not quite into imene tuki, a lot of the words/phrases probably do not mean much.

Over the years, many variations have found their way into the way an imene tuki is composed and sung. The following are some of those variations:

- Inclusion of foreign language words – English, Papua New Guinea, Fijian, etc., in the form of either a whole line or two, or a few words, but not a whole verse or bulk of the song. There is no clear explanation why this has happened, it's probably to do with something like "it sounds like a good idea."
- Inclusion of tunes which are not standard in an imene tuki; they are tunes one finds in Sunday School choruses, worldly non-Christian secular-type of songs.
- Ute, chant-type of phrases

There is no church service in the CICC that doesn't include imene tuki. Clockwise from top left: first day of the CICC assembly of 2009 at Arorangi, opening and closing of the same assembly was hosted by Nikao, and the 2013 assembly hosted by Melbourne, opening and closing at Clayton Ekalesia.

6. TUNING

The tunes of imene tuki compositions vary from island to island. The differences are noticeable in terms of the following:

- Some compositions (notably those coming out of Penrhyn) have a much slower pace and longer pause between the verses relative to the imene tuki of the other islands. In fact the pause between the verses is so slow that non-Penrhyn islanders commonly think that the song had ended.
- Most other islands in the Cook Islands have the normal speed of imene tuki.
- Most imene tuki start off with a low tone, going up to a medium one in the middle verse(s), and end in the last verse with a distinctly higher tone. This is referred to as “apaipai” in Cook Islands Maori.
- When an imene tuki starts off with a tone that is too low which does happen, it is normally corrected almost on the spot or in the 2nd verse. But when it starts off on a high or very high tone, it is virtually impossible to correct it; in such cases the song just carries on to the end, or the lead singer (called Tumu Imene in Cook Islands Maori) simply re-starts the song. So there indeed is pressure on the lead singers to get it right at the start, and experienced lead singers normally but not always do get it right.
- Palmerston Island residents whose first language is English (the only such island in the Cook Islands), do sing imene tuki in the Cook Islands Maori language.

It is important to mention that an imene tuki can have more than one tune. This scenario arises when an imene tuki composition is “introduced” into another Ekalesia or group of singers by someone other than the original composer; it is rare, probably a non-event, that a composer will compose more than one tune for each of his imene tuki compositions. In 99% of cases, there is only one tune that the composer will compose for each imene tuki.

Imene tuki is sung not only in a church, but in other venues as well where the atmosphere is spiritual. Clockwise from top: while waiting for an event, the Mamas and Papas of Cairns kill the time by engaging in an imene tuki (2009), imene tuki at the end of snacks in Ekalesia Townsville (2009), Ekalesia Clayton does an imene tuki while the guests eat (2008), and the 3 bottom photos, a jubilant atmosphere at the National Auditorium in Rarotonga during a Rarotonga Gospel Day commemoration (2010).

As the imene tuki gets to be introduced into the first and subsequent Ekalesias or groups of singers, it is likely that one or two words, tunes, lines, etc., get mixed up or changed, intentionally or unintentionally, resulting in the composition no longer sounding the same as the original version. The more Ekalesias or groups that the imene tuki is introduced into, the more the variations in the tunes will arise. And the way to notice that the tunes have changed is when either the composer or members of the composer's Ekalesia get to hear the same imene tuki being sung in another Ekalesia or group of singers.

In such cases, the following two scenarios are in order:

- (a) An attempt is made to have the tune corrected; or
- (b) The new tune is allowed to continue regardless, partly because the Ekalesia or group which "adopted" the composition is comfortable with the variation and probably too cumbersome for them to have to learn a "different" although original tune.

In the CICC Sunday School Hymn Book, a lot of the songs have more than one tune because different Eklesias – not being aware of the original tune of the hymn – managed to develop a tune that they felt comfortable singing, and eventually that tune became standard in that Ekalesia. So different tunes are not only to be found in the imene tuki compositions and such differences have not been significant issues or have become reasons for violent debates and objections from the parties concerned.

Imene tuki can have 3 distinct moods:

- (a) Normal, in the sense that the story in it being portrayed is one that will not lead to anyone being overly sad or overly excited. Most imene tuki are in this category.
- (b) Sad, in the sense that the story in it being portrayed may lead to an emotional-type of feeling. This is normally the case in compositions composed for events like funerals or arising from some sad stories in the Bible.
- (c) Exciting, in the sense that they have been composed in a celebrative nature or with a festive spirit in it. These types of imene tuki are common in compositions composed for the Christmas and New Year periods or for events that calls for thanksgiving. If they are sung outside of the church, it is common for the mamas and papas to "get up and dance to the rhythm of the music."

7. PLACES WHERE IMENE TUKI IS SUNG

Imene tuki is sung at the following places:

- In the church as part of the normal worship programme, family service, dedication service, commissioning service, etc.
- In the halls of a church as part of an uapou and other special functions programme
- At private functions such as house and other assets dedication, bestowing of traditional titles, opening of a building, hair cutting, wedding, funeral service, etc.
- In a community hall for a function which requires the input of the religious sector
- Even on a moving vehicle (bus, truck, van) when a church group goes from one location to another for a specific purpose
- In those churches in Papua New Guinea which were either established by the early Cook Islands Missionaries to that country, or those in which Cook Islands Missionaries served for many years.

8. RECORDING

Writing

Recording the script of any imene tuki by writing can be tricky. While it is clear which lines are for men and which ones for women, some lines or parts of some lines involve both men and women singing together or simultaneously. There is also the repetition of some lines or verses which doesn't always go back to the same lines. Nevertheless, given these complexities, writing the imene tuki has been done for many generations now and they continue to be written down, despite the new methods of recording as explained below.

Tapes/films

Imene tuki started to be taped or filmed during the 1950s when film production agents (such as the New Zealand Film Corporation) took footages of the country's culture and way of life. Then the 1970s introduced the cassettes, followed by video tapes in the 1980s, and CDs and DVDs in the 1990s until today.

Several attempts have been made to write imene tuki in the music language but to no avail. This is understandable, given its rather complex nature relative to most other types of hymns and songs.

More places where imene tuki has been sung. From left: dedication of the new Matavera Ekalesia Sunday School Hall (2015), Rarotonga Gospel Day at Ngatangiia (2012), headstone unveiling (2014).

9. THE FUTURE

It is a well-known fact that imene tuki is one aspect that differentiates the CICC from other church denominations because it is sung regularly by the CICC parishes only, although some churches in Papua New Guinea are also familiar with imene tuki. Those imene tuki compositions that have been recorded by either writing or tapes/films/CDs/DVDs, will no doubt be around for a long time to come.

No doubt also, composers will continue to be around and will be producing countless more imene tuki compositions. But if tomorrow's generation is not going to be as fascinated in this type of singing compared to today's and yesterday's generations and there are already signs pointing in this direction, then the survival of imene tuki in the CICC in particular and Cook Islands society in general, is going to be quite a challenge.

Sherlock Holmes rests his case and hangs up his investigative hat – until the next case.

(4) THE NUMBER 60

Background

This is issue number 60 of the CICC Newsletter, it has come a long way since the 6-page issue number 1 way back in September 2005. What else is significant about number 60? Consider the following:

Bible

- Saint Paul prescribes that a woman can be registered to the group of widows only if she is at least 60 years old (1 Ti 5.9)
- The width and the height of the Temple of Jerusalem is 60 cubits (Ezr 6.3)
- The gold statue which King Nebuchadnezzar built was 60 cubits high (Dn 3.1)
- The Song of Songs mentions that 60 valiant knights surround Solomon (Sg 3.7)
- Age of Isaac when Jacob and Esau were born (Gn 25.26)
- In one of the poems of Solomon it is written "There are 60 queens and 80 concubines, (and countless girls). My dove is my only one" (Sg 6.8)
- The number 60 is used 32 times in the Bible - 26 times in the OT and 6 times in the NT.
- The NT uses on the whole 60 different numbers, of which 53 are found both in the OT and the NT, and the 7 others only in the NT.
- By 60 times in the New Testament it is referred in the Virgin Mary: 26 times by the word mother, 10 times by the word woman, 3 times by the word Virgin, 2 times by the word servant and 19 times by the name of Mary.
- The word Sabbath is used 60 times in the NT.

Other

- Product of $3 \times 4 \times 5$, which reminder the Pythagoras' theorem: $3^2 + 4^2 = 5^2$
- Some peoples measured the year by the moons, the coincidence with the solar year occurs by a cycle of 60 years.
- A period of 60 days was used as measurement of the time for some peoples, like Indians, Chinese and Egyptians.
- Number of years that lasts a complete cycle in the Chinese lunar calendar.
- The Chaldean Targoum speaks about the 60 letters of the blessing transmitted to Moses.
- The distance from the Earth to the Moon is 60 times the terrestrial ray.
- In the ancient measurements of weight, the talent was worth 60 mines.
- Anniversary of marriage: diamond wedding.
- In time, the number of seconds in a minute, and the number of minutes in an hour (a legacy of the Babylonian number system)
- The number of feet in the standard measurement tool to evaluate an automotive launch on a dragstrip, as the time taken to travel the first 60 feet (18 m) of the track
- The number of miles per hour an automobile accelerates to from rest (0-60) as one of the standard measurements of performance
- The number of years in a Sexagenary cycle
- 60 Minutes, a CBS investigative television show
- Sixty Minute Man was a TV show starring Kenny Baumann
- European route E60 runs from Brest, France, to Constanța, Romania
- Municipal Okrug 60, name of Posadsky Municipal Okrug of Petrogradsky District of St. Petersburg, Russia until April 2009
- A common speed limit, in miles per hour, for freeways in many U.S. states
- A common speed limit, in kilometers per hour, in urban areas in Russia
- The maximum number of marbles (game pieces) in Chinese checkers
- The code for international direct dial calls to Malaysia
- Studio 60 on the Sunset Strip was a TV show on NBC (2006–07)
- Miss Sixty is a women's apparel brand
- The number of cards in the game Rack-O
- The age for senior citizens in some cultures

The Resurrection of the Body

ANIMISM the doctrine of the continuous existence, after death, of the disembodied human spirit—has a place in the majority of religious systems; but belief in the resurrection of the body is almost peculiar to the Christian faith. In Old Testament times the hope of immortality for body and soul seldom found expression. Job seems to have had at least a glimpse of the doctrine, although his words in the original do not express it so strongly as those of the English version: "I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth: and though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God." In the Psalms there are various intimations that faithful servants of God looked for a future life in which the body as well as the spirit should find place.

Isaiah prophesied, "Thy dead men shall live, my dead body shall arise. Awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast out the dead." Daniel still more emphatically declares, "Many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt." The story in the second book of Maccabees of the seven martyr-brothers, who would not accept life from the tyrant on condition of denying their God, proves that they were strengthened to endure by the sure hope of "a better resurrection." One of them thus confessed his faith: "Thou like a fury takest us out of this present life, but the King of the world shall raise us up, who have died for His laws, unto everlasting life." Another of the brothers, about to have his tongue plucked out and his hands cut off, "holding forth his hands manfully, said courageously, These I had from heaven ... and from Him I hope to receive them again." Their mother, who is thought to have been one of the saints that in the Epistle to the Hebrews are said to have been tortured, not accepting deliverance, encouraged her sons to be faithful unto death by telling them that God who had given them life at the first would restore it. "I am sure," she said, "that He will of His own mercy give you breath and life again as ye now regard not your own selves for His laws' sake." The Pharisees in the days of our Lord held by the doctrine, which the Sadducees, who rejected belief in angels and spirits, denied. The belief expressed by Martha when she said of her brother Lazarus, "I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day,"¹ was in all likelihood current in her time. It may have been to impress the truth of resurrection-life for the body that Enoch, before the flood, and Elijah, in later Old Testament times, were translated; but it is in the New Testament, in words spoken by the Lord Jesus, that resurrection is fully revealed.

"Marvel not at this," said He to the Jews; "for the hour is coming in the which all that are in the graves shall hear the voice of the Son of man, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto In reply to the Sadducees, who attempted to ridicule His statements regarding resurrection, He said, "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God"; and He put them to silence by showing that the truth of resurrection was implied in the name by which God revealed Himself to Israel, "I am the God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob." He showed His power over the dead body, and furnished assurance of resurrection, by raising the dead. He thus restored the daughter of Jairus and the son of the widow of Nain, and raised Lazarus from the tomb four days after he had died. In His own resurrection we have the most signal pledge of our bodily immortality. When He arose triumphant from the grave and showed Himself alive by many infallible proofs, He manifested His power as the conqueror of death.

It is clearly taught in Scripture that there is to be a general resurrection of the righteous and the wicked. In addition to texts already quoted, we find John declaring, "I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God, ... and the sea gave up the dead which were in it; and death and hell delivered up the dead which were in them"; and Paul writes to the Thessalonians, "We that are alive, that are left unto the coming of the Lord, shall in no wise precede them that are fallen asleep ... and the dead in Christ shall rise first."

The resurrection is associated with the second coming of Christ. It is His voice that shall awake the dead, and the angels who will accompany Him are to gather them from the four winds of heaven to the judgment-seat of Christ, "that everyone may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad."

In resurrection, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost take part. God the Father, who "both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own power": God the Son: "As the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will": God the Holy Ghost, who, as the Giver of life, by His special action will raise our bodies: "He that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you." The Lord Jesus Christ is the meritorious cause of resurrection: "By man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made." resurrection is the pledge and the pattern of ours. "If we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection." Christianity teaches that the body as well as the soul is redeemed by the Lord Jesus Christ, "the Saviour of the body." We are called to glorify God in our bodies, which are temples of the Holy Ghost, and we must give account for the deeds done in and through the body, as well as for those sins which are rather of the mind and will than of the body. The body will be raised and will be judged. God will bring to light all hidden things actions forgotten by ourselves, deeds of which the world knows nothing, as well as those which memory retains and the world knows of. Before that "great and notable day" our bodies as well as our souls must have been purged, else we shall never see God. The bodies of the unjust will rise; but theirs will be resurrection to shame and everlasting contempt.

It is fitting that reward or punishment should be the portion of the same souls and bodies that have been faithful or unfaithful. Christ rose in the same body as He had before His death, and so shall we. How this is to be accomplished we cannot tell, but with God all things are possible, and faith rests with confidence in His power and in His Word. "We wait for a Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall fashion anew the body of our humiliation, that it may be conformed to the body of his glory." While the body is the same as that in which the soul tabernacled, it will undergo transformation. Christ will renew the bodily as well as the spiritual nature of His people. Every part of their being will be transformed, and their bodies, like Christ's, will be spiritual bodies.

We are to be sanctified wholly; our whole spirit and soul and body preserved blameless unto His coming. In this present life the body builds up a character which it will retain throughout eternity. Every act we do affects it, not for the time only, but for ever. The lost soul will assume the polluted body, and while it may shrink in horror from the union, will find no way of escape. "He that is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still." "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap," and the harvest will abide with him for ever.
